Description of Program

Since 2010, 63 percent of the population has had access to curbside recycling; yet recycling rates are still surprisingly low. In fact, only 34.5 percent of the 251 million tons of trash Americans generated that year was recycled or composted. And in an Ad Council survey, 62 percent of Americans admitted they were not avid recyclers. To improve these rates, the Ad Council teamed up with Keep America Beautiful and San Francisco-based ad agency Pereira & O'Dell to launch the I Want To Be Recycled campaign. This playful—and powerful—campaign personifies everyday recyclable objects, allowing plastic bottles, steel cans and more to share their dreams of a different life

FCC REPORT – 2ND QUARTER 2016

ISSUE: NATIONAL POLITICS

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #1, 9:00)

When: April 3rd, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

Hot week in the world of politics. Hillary Clinton attacks Donald Trump, while Trump made comments that infuriated many women but attracted ultra conservatives. Senator Bernie Sanders, lambasted millionaire Donald Trump for using Mexicans as "scapegoats". Another fact that drew attention is that Trump has become the most unpopular candidate of any party in the last three decades.

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #2, 8:00)

When: April 3rd, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

The political campaigns have been full of personal attacks and insults that increased the amount of time the candidates get in the media. Let's be honest. This plays a key factor in who could take the Oval Office. President Barack Obama urged journalists to be harder in their questioning and to scrutinize presidential candidates more, not focus on the "rude rhetoric" that has flooded the electoral campaign.

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #1, 9:00)

When: April 10th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

The Latino community has become more involved and informed about politics during these elections of 2016. There is no doubt that the immigration topic is big among a majority of Latinos in the US, however there are other subjects that are crucial to Hispanics such as health, education, and economy. Also the immigration of minors without parents to the US has become an endless issue as well as employment and education opportunities for minorities. These elections have a variety of roles from the pre-candidates and they have certain things to offer the Latinos that make up the biggest minority in the US.

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #3, 6:00)

When: April 10th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

The Republican Party expects to have a presumptive nominee before the July convention, but some rules and procedures are already in place for a “what if” scenario. Donald Trump, who has now won more than half the number of delegates needed to secure the nomination, must increase his share of delegates from here to win the nomination outright. One crucial, winner-take-all contest in Arizona next week and important winner-take-most states like New York and California will be crucial in deciding whether Trump is sailing toward the nomination outright or whether a contested convention is coming. In most election years, one presidential candidate wins enough delegates during the primary-caucuses process in order for the presumptive nominee to earn a majority of the delegates before the convention begins.

Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #2, 8:00)

When: April 17th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #2, 10:00)

When: May 15th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

Donald Trump met with GOP leaders to smooth things over and call for party unity . Republican analyst Alfonso Aguilar explains what the aspirant to the White House needs to do to gain the confidence of his party. In this segment we also interviewed Arturo Vargas, Executive Director of NALEO, speaking on the adoption of electoral laws by some states and cities, which could jeopardize the Latino vote in the 2016 election.

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #1, 9:00)

When: May 22nd, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

Hillary Clinton faces a double battle, first against Bernie Sanders who is still fighting for his party's nomination, and on the other hand she faces pressure from Donald Trump, the Republican Party virtual nominee who is already campaigning for November's election. Jose Fuentes Agostini, Republican analyst and Pablo Manriquez, from the Democratic Party discuss what is at stake.

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #1B, 4:00)

When: May 29th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

Illinois Democratic Congressman Luis Gutierrez, tells us about the divisiveness within his party, why he supports Hillary Clinton and why he doesn't think the President of the Democratic National Committee, Debbie Wasserman Shultz, is favoring the former Secretary of State as Bernie Sanders had complained.

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #1, 9:00)

When: June 12th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

We analyze the major campaign events of the week. The historic victory of Hillary Clinton in California and New Jersey that gave her the delegates to secure the nomination of her party; the meeting of President Barack Obama with Bernie Sanders; and the rain of criticism for the presumptive Republican nominee, Donald Trump, accused of racism by members of his party, after the magnate questioned the impartiality of federal judge Gonzalo Curiel. The magistrate, a descendant of Mexican parents, who was born in Indiana, presides over a lawsuit against Trump University. Lorena Chambers, Democratic analyst and Carlos Mercader, a Republican analyst, share their opinions on these issues.

FCC REPORT – 2ND QUARTER 2016

ISSUE: HEALTH

Program: Ad Council / Clean up Mold - 30 second PSA

When: April 1 – June 30, 2016

Description of Program

Washington, DC, September 17, 2013 — Seven million children in the United States have asthma and nearly two-thirds of them will experience an asthma attack this year, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). In an effort to educate parents of children with asthma about simple steps they can take to prevent attacks, the Ad Council and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announced today the launch of a series of public service advertisements (PSAs) featuring a new band of puppet characters called “The Breathe Easies.” The campaign includes a series of online videos, radio PSAs and Web banners, available in English and Spanish, featuring the band performing songs about asthma triggers. Viewers and listeners are informed about ways to prevent attacks such as cleaning up mold, not smoking in the house and vacuuming the floor, and directed to find more tips by visiting NoAttacks.org

Program: Ad Council / AUTISM CNAT0395000H – 60 second PSA

When: April 1 – June 30, 2016

Description of Program

Autism is one of the fastest-growing serious developmental disorder in the United States.*Today, one in 68 children is diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder, a nearly 30 percent increase in the last two years. Despite this high prevalence, research shows that many parents of young children have very little knowledge about autism and are not seeking help early enough. The PSAs encourage parents of young children to visit AutismSpeaks.org/Signs to learn the signs of autism early, because seeking help can lead to better lifelong outcomes

Program: Ad Council / BIKE CNOH0135000H – 30 second PSA

When: April 1 – June 30, 2016

Description of Program

The PSAs aim to show parents that spending just two minutes, twice a day making sure their children brush could help save them from a lifetime of tooth pain. Because two minutes is such a short amount of time for such an important part of parenting, the new PSAs feature parents trying--and struggling--to squeeze other parenting lessons into so little time. These scenes suggest that while most parenting is hard, making sure your kids brush for two minutes, twice a day is one aspect that's easier. Parents are directed to 2min2x.org, where they can find fun two minute videos that kids can watch while brushing.

When: April 10th, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

A group of global news organizations published articles this week based on a trove of leaked confidential documents from a law firm in Panama. They exposed how some of the world's most powerful people have used offshore bank accounts to conceal their wealth or avoid taxes. The documents, known as the Panama Papers, named international politicians, business leaders and celebrities in a web of unseemly financial transactions, according to the articles, and raised questions about corruption in the global financial system. Many of the figures named in the leak have denied in the strongest terms that they had broken any laws. The Panama Papers are 11.5 million documents provided by an unnamed source to a German newspaper more than one year ago. They were taken from the files of Mossack Fonseca, described as the fourth-largest offshore law firm in the world.

When: April 1st – June 30th, 2016

Description of Program

In the U.S., one in five children struggles with a learning and/or attention issue. That's 15 million kids ages three to 20, and many of their issues go undiagnosed. The adults in their lives often have a hard time understanding their issues due to misconceptions and a lack of information and resources. As a result, these children often face both academic and social challenges. However, with the right strategies and support, they can succeed in the classroom-and outside of it, too.

This campaign stems from the idea that parents can sense when their children are struggling but may not know why, or what to do. By demonstrating the realities that children with learning and attention issues face daily, the campaign aims to increase the number of parents who are actively helping and seeking help for their kids. Parents are encouraged to visit Understood.org, a comprehensive, free online resource that empowers parents through personalized support, daily access to experts and specially designed tools to help the millions of children with learning and attention issues go from simply coping to truly thriving.

FCC REPORT – 2ND QUARTER 2016

ISSUE: RELIGION

Program: Perspectiva Nacional (Segment #3, 6:00)

When: April 3rd, 2016 7:30-8:00am

Description of Program

Nathan Deal, Governor of the State of Georgia, rejects the hb757 a controversial law of religious freedom that has been reported as discriminatory because IT allows religious groups to deny services to homosexuals. In North Carolina similar movements have started seeking to block legislation considered discriminatory. However there are many others who consider blocking this legislation a violation to their own beliefs. Indeed Ted Cruz who seeks the Republican president nomination spoke immediately about these movements
